

Wendy M. Stinson
PMO Director

Wendy M. Stinson is the PMO Director at IntegrityM. In her role, Ms. Stinson is responsible for enterprise resource capacity planning and management, project execution standardization across the organization, project management training, the creation and maintenance of enterprise project management systems, and internal controls/quality management compliance.

An experienced program manager, Ms. Stinson brings more than 20 years of insight to the role, including 11 years overseeing the performance of multi-million dollar government contracts; providing project and program management for all facets of contract work; overseeing quality management; supervising project personnel; and providing in-depth analysis and strategic process improvement recommendations to enhance program integrity and quality improvement efforts.

Prior to joining IntegrityM, Ms. Stinson supervised projects supporting various health and human services agencies, including the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services with the Center for Program Integrity and the Center for Clinical Standards and Quality, as well as the Administration for Children and Families Office of Head Start, and the D.C. Department of Health.

Ms. Stinson is a former U.S. Peace Corps volunteer, providing English as a Foreign Language (EFL) Education in Pavlodar, Kazakhstan.

A certified Project Management Professional (PMP), Ms. Stinson received a Bachelor of Arts in English from Washington State University and a Graduate Certificate in Human Services with Specialization in Social & Community Services from Capella University.